

VXi V100 Wireless Headset System

The VXi V100 wireless headset system hands you the freedom to get more done.

Get up and go.

More than ever, productivity is the name of the game. There's no way around it; you need to accomplish more, every day. A headset is a great start, because it frees your hands when you're on the phone. But to really unleash your full potential, you need the V100 wireless headset system from VXi. With its 300 feet of wireless freedom you can grab a file, send a fax and confer with a co-worker—all while juggling calls, just about anywhere in your workplace. With up to 10 hours of continuous talk time per charge, the V100 frees you from your desk, and from worries about missing that important call, all day long.

The V100's advanced noise-canceling microphone, combined with DECT 6.0 technology, delivers crystal-clear conversations, even in the noisiest environments. And its choice of three wearing styles (headband, neckband and earhook) lets you pick the all-day comfortable option that best fits your preference and environment.

- 1.9 GHz DECT 6.0 for 300 feet of interference-free freedom.
- Advanced noise-canceling quiets chatter, even in noisy spaces.
- A choice of wearing styles: over-the-head, over-the-ear and behind-the-neck.
- One-touch controls for volume, mute, call waiting and remote call answer/end.
- 64-bit encryption keeps conversations private.

Multitasking made easy.

By putting your whole workspace at your fingertips, the V100 puts a range of benefits within your reach.

Increased effectiveness and productivity: With the V100's 300 feet of wireless freedom and 10 hours of talk time, there's nothing holding you back.

Enhanced collaboration: The V100 base station can be paired with two headsets for multi-unit conferencing.

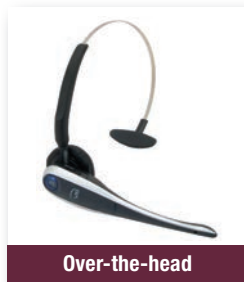

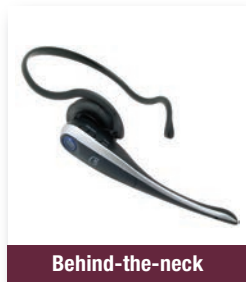

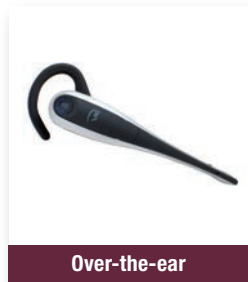

Satisfied users: Designed for intuitive operation, the V100 is easy to set up and use, with one-touch controls for volume, mute, call waiting and remote call answer/end.

- Advanced noise-canceling microphone eliminates background noise.
- Sleek, lightweight design for easy, all-day wear.
- 1.9 GHz DECT 6.0 transmissions are free from interference from WiFi or other wireless networks.
- One-touch controls for volume, mute, call waiting and remote call answer/end.
- Base station can be paired with two V100 headsets.

The V100 gives you a choice of three wearing styles to suit your personal preference.

L50 Handset Lifter

When you add the L50 to your V100 wireless headset system, you're free to answer calls—and end them—away from your desk. The ringtone in your headset lets you know when you have a call, and all you have to do is touch the on/off button on the headset. To end the call, just touch the on/off button again.

For more information about VXi and our full line of Contact Center & Office, Bluetooth® Mobile and Unified Communications products, visit our website at www.vxicorp.com.

